VIEWS OF WOMEN ON THE FRANCHISE

Northwestern Federation Makes Plea For the Ballot.

STANDS FOR EQUAL RIGHTS

Organization Headed by Mrs. Joanna Snowden Porter Conducts Enthusiastic Campaign With Votes For Women as Paramount Issue-Platform Calls For Effective Legislation.

By MINNIE M. SCOTT. Chicago.-The Northwestern Federation of Colored Women's Clubs, Mrs. J. Snowden Porter, president, has done a noteworthy service in its work to secure the ballot for women. In the campaign just closed the federation adopted and used the following as its platform and plea for fair play:

A group of Illinois women, encouraged as they were by the hope of this new emancipation offered to them by their state and realizing the opportunities afforded them in their work of social service through the ballot, are cooperating with their sister workers having the same or partial rights in their effort to make national suffrage a fact, thereby giving to all women the power to use the ballot for the purpose of securing such legislation as will promote the advancement of all citizens of all sections of this country.

"Deeds, not words," is a motto much believed in by this group of earnest women, and they set about the work of organizing women of the "old northwest" and the "new northwest" with these ideas in mind at their first annual meeting, held at Wichita, Kan.. adopted as their platform of principles, among other planks, a recommendation for a national child labor law and one for universal suffrage, asking the national parties, which intended to make their appeal to the voting contingency for support, to incorporate these principles or their substance in their 1916

This organization has been carefully watching the situation since that time and analyzing the pledges of the parties and their nominees, especially those of the Democratic and Republican parties, Woodrow Wilson and Charles Evans Hughes. The paramount Issue, so far as women are concerned, is universal suffrage, for it will be through this source only that we can hope for such legislation as we have continually asked for, which will bring to us all the other progressive measures along social and economic lines and assure to the home and the community the security and welfare of the Universal suffrage will make the child labor law secure. We have worked for, hoped for it a long time. Therefore we want to stand by our own platform and urge all women to co perate with the "vote for women movement. Such laws we have also looked forward to as a protection to our children and future men and women and a safeguard to the health and happiness of the breadwinners but when we analyze this legislation carefully, given us in the eleventh hour, mably for political purposes, we and little of merit in the giver.

America is again in travail, the result of which we are hoping and praying will give birth to national woman suffrage, that new emancipation to ward which women have been working and hoping for more than forty years, hoping and working to free themselves from a bondage of inequality. As at the time of the emancipation of the Negro slave, so it is now in the affairs of the nation. Men's hearts are failing them for fear of what is coming upon the republic, whatever they may say to the contrary. They are seeking everywhere for a solution of the problems which are continually confronting them. Wars and rumors of wars, disasters by land and sea, labor complications, the tariff question. many matters of social and economic interest, are constantly engaging the attention of our wisest and most sober statesmen. They invoke the consideration of congress, and still they are far from solution. Our country was never in a more unsettled condition since its discovery than it is at the Wherever women have been given the franchise, either partial or in full, home and community conditions have been bettered because laws have been made better and more secure. Yet, as "a little leaven leaveneth the whole lump," there must of necessity come a retardation of effect, and we can only hope for universal and steady advancement when all the women in every part of the country shall have the power to express their desire through the Gallot. Until then we shall continue to see our country rise and fall, like the ebb and flow of the sea.

Four years ago there came to us a new party with a new platform, with new planks, offering us protective child labor laws and woman's suffrage. This party was to woman like the cloud the size of a man's hand. The hope extended then has grown un-+11 like that cloud, it has grown for us to the typical "pillar of fire," leading to the promised day, as our fellow men have extended that franchise. The new planks of 1912 have become

He has served the church the past few months very acceptably. The members have shown timely interest in the work, and all departments of the church have taken on new life. Within the short space of four months under Dr. Patterson's leadership, 100 new members have been added to the church roll.

EQUALITY OF CITIZENSHIP

Wise Provision of the Founders For the Protection of All the People Alike Has Not Been Complied With-Disfranchisement Is Form of Political

The government of the United States sprang into being because of the absolute necessity of the banding together of the inhabitants of the American colonies in upholding certain incontestable rights. Among these were the right of government by the consent of the governed and the right to voice in representation where taxation is imposed The basic control of the government of the United States is the constitution of the United States. This document was instituted "in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquillity, etc., says the Hon. Joseph C. Manning of Alabama.

The founders of the government in order to secure a more perfect organization than could have otherwise been secured made certain compromises on the slavery question, but finally the constitution of the United States was so perfected by amendments as to embrace all its citizens within the folds of its guarantee. "Neither slavery no: involuntary servitude except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted shall exist within the United States or any place subject to their jurisdiction."

The amendments to the constitution furthermore defined United States citizenship and set forth the nationality of the United States citizen by the declaration that "all persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof are citi zens of the United States and of the state wherein they reside." To make the right of United States citizenship emphatic and secure the constitution further set forth that "no state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States." With the object in view of protecting the ballot rights of all its citizens the constitution asserted this declaration: "The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or any state on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude."

Those who vote in the United States as well as those who are inducted into office take solemn oath to uphold the constitution of the United States. Ev ery citizen in the United States is obligated and sworn to support and maintain the principles of the constitution in its letter and in its spirit. None are expected to deny to others rights which they may justly demand for them selves. The ideal of this government of ours is that it is "a government of the people, by the people and for the

"The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all the privileges and immu nities of citizens in the several states.' The constitution of the United States put upon the nation the expressed obligation furthermore that "the United States shall guarantee to every state in this Union a republican form of gov. ernment." It was the aim of the constitution of the United States that constitutional liberty and constitutional rights should remain inviolate to every citizen in every state.

That every state government should and must comply with the fundamen tal principles enunciated therein is too plainly set forth in the constitution of the United States to require any discussion. It is difficult of comprehen sion, therefore, that in a governmen of such lofty conception there has been perpetrated by partisan political maneuvering gross contravention of the ballot rights of the United States citizens in at least ten states of the Union. The extent to which this aggression has gone will be looked upon as something astounding by those who give this subject due consideration. It is almost enigmatical that public sentiment in this nation is not alive to the open and flagrant conflict with the fundamental rights of the people which exists in the southern states.

Infringement upon the liberties o the people of the south has grown to such startling proportion through the general unconcern on the part of the people of the entire country that this PHONES: Main 3712; New 3012 condition has become not only the problem of the people of these states, who as citizens of these states are so directly involved, but one of vital moment to all the people of the nation. Chattel slavery was abolished as inconsistent with the principles of our free government. The republic could not continue half slave and half free. Disfranchisement in the south, a form of political slavery, equally as obnoxious and entirely out of conformity with the letter and spirit of the consti tution of the United States, will as as Clarence R. Green, Mgr suredly be finally overthrown.

COLLEGE MEN DISCUSS THE SOUTHERN RACE QUESTION

University Commission Asks For Larger Share of School Funds.

In its first open letter to college men of the south, issued early in 1916, the university commission urged them to unite their efforts with those of the press, the pulpit, the bar, the officers of the law and all other agencies laster evil of mob violence. These agen- DISCIPLE OF WASHINGTON boring for the elimination of the moncies have labored diligently and with substantial results, as it indicated by the decrease of the average annual number of lynchings from 171 for the decade 1886-95 to seventy for the decade 1906-15. Nevertheless the commission wishes to reiterate its appeal with renewed emphasis, knowing that the eradication of so virulent a social disease as the lynching mania can be effected only by the prolonged and vigorous efforts of sane and patriotic

In this letter the commission wishes to direct the attention of college men to the educational aspect of the race question, inasmuch as the solution of ail human problems ultimately rests upon rightly directed education. In its last analysis education simply means bringing forth all the native capacities of the individual for the benefit both of himself and of society. It is axiomatic that a developed plant. animal or man is far more valuable to society than the undeveloped. It is likewise obvious that ignorance is the most fruitful source of human ills. Furthermore, it is as true in a social as in a physical sense that a chain is no stronger than its weakest link. The good results thus far obtained, as shown by the Negro's progress within recent years, prompt the commission to urge the extension of his educational opportunities. The inadequate provision for the education of the Negro is more than an injustice to him; it is an injury to the white man. The south cannot realize its destiny if one-third of its population is undeveloped and inefficient. For our common welfare we must strive to cure disease wherever we find it, strengthen whatever is weak and develop all that is undeveloped. The initial steps for increasing the efficiency and usefulness of the Negro race must necessarily be taken in the schoolroom. There can be no denying that more and better schools with better trained and better paid teachers, more adequate supervision and longer terms are needed for the blacks as well as the whites. The Negro schools are, of course, parts of the school systems of their respective states and as such share in the progress and prosperity of their state systems.

Our appeal is for a larger share for the Negro on the ground of the common welfare and common justice. He is the weakest link in our civilization, and our welfare is indissolubly bound up with his. Many means are open to the college men of the south for arousing greater public interest in this matter and for promoting a more vigorous public effort to this end. A right attipublic questions is a condition precedent to success. For this reason the lege men this special appeal.

CHISUM IS VINDICATED.

Governor of Oklahoma Pardons Editor Convicted of Criminal Libel.

Oklahoma City, Okla.-Members of the National Negro Press association and friends of Melvin J. Chisum have been showering him recently with congratulations since it became known that the governor of Oklahoma has issued a pardon to Chisum. The pardon was recommended after a thorough investigation of the cases against him. In his findings Hon. J. M. Crook of the pardon board says:

"Melvin J. Chisum was wrongfully convicted in the county court of Logan county and wrongfully charged with criminal libel, although he published articles in the newspaper he was conducting and editing in reference to Langston university.

"There were serious scandals in regard to the conduct of the students at said university. Chisum published the facts in reference to such conduct. The publication was strong, but no stronger than the facts justified. This department regrets to admit that upon investigation it found in each instance the facts to be exactly in accord with Chisum's charges.

"It is a fact that President Page was peremptorily relieved of his position in the university ten days after the first statements of Chisum in his paper, and it may be that the exposure of the situation over there by Chisum led to such result. But it must be considered that in the exposure of such conditions deleterious to public health or moral safety the press is always and invariably a most potent weapon."

Tuskegee Graduate Ranks High as an Educator.

Steps In the Life of Native Alabama Boy Who Rose From Messenger In Office of Tuskegee's Founder to Principalship of Large Normal and Industrial School In Virginia.

Christiansburg, Va.-Professor Edgar Allen Long, principal of the Christiansburg Normal and Industrial institute in this town, is a native of Tuskegee, Ala. His father and mother were both unlettered, though they had a passion old church building on Zion's hill, on which Dr. Booker T. Washington founded the famous Tuskegee institute. With the advent of Dr. Washington into Tuskegee the whole course interest, $10 per mo. of Mr. Long's life changed. In those early Tuskegee days boys were taken St., Irvington; bargain. from the model school to work in the er, that fired young Long's ambition to ments. try for the "heights by great men reached and kept."

In 1887, two years after the first class had graduated from Tuskegee, good terms on this. Mr. Long was carried with his famlly to Birmingham, the "Magic City" which sprang up in northern Alabama nity for some one. and ore mines. But the seed had been sown, and Long could not remain out of school. At the death of his father tude in this as in all other important in 1889, leaving his mother and two sisters, the support of which fell upon his shoulders, it was a question whether he should stay home and support them or return to Tuskegee and complete his education.

He wisely chose the latter course, and in December, 1891, he entered Tuskegee, his old home and school. Since he had no funds and no one to help him he set about to learn the printer's trade at Tuskegee, which he did in 1893. He had charge of the Tuskegee printing office during the summer months and was for several years business manager of the Student, the paper published by the school. Graduating from Tuskegee with second honors in 1895, he was immediately called to Birmingham, Ala., to take charge of the Alabama Publishing company that had been organized by the late Dr. W. R. Petti-

Mr. Long was also the assistant bookkeeper at the Alabama Penny Savings bank and private secretary to Dr. Pettiford. It was while serving in this capacity that the call came to go to Christiansburg.

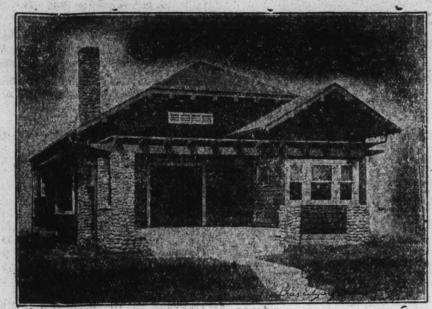

Accepting this position, he entered upon his duties in the fall of 1897. He was gratified to take up his new work because there were several Tuskegee graduates there. The principal of Christiansburg, the late Charles L. Marshall, was a roommate, classmate and lifelong friend, and Anna Lee Patterson, who afterward became his wife, were classmates, and there were three other Tuskegee graduates at this

Because of his experience as bookkeeper at the bank in Birmingham Mr. Long was made treasurer of the school, which position he held until upon the death of Mr. Marshall in 1906 he was elevated to the principalship. Mr. Long says he regards all work that he had done previously as a preparation for his life work at Christiansburg. Much of what the school is today is the result of his own efforts. When he was made principal the school's property was valued at $40,-000, including land and buildings and equipment and an endowment of $5,-500. Today the buildings and equipment alone are worth $75,000, and the endowment is $68,000.

Mr. Long is prominent in educational circles. He is now and has been for six years president of the Virginia State Teachers' association. He is a vice president of the Negro Organization society, of which Major Moton is president, and is treasurer of the National Association of Teachers In Colored Schools

《PURE AIR》

How does the FarQuar heating and ventilating system produce pure air in the house?

There is nothing as cheap as air, and nothing as valuable. We can live three weeks without food, three days without water, three minutes without air. The FarQuar System brings into the house 3,000 cubic feet of fresh air every hour for every person in the house, and changes it every ten minutes. It is brought in over a firebox that is never made red-hot and is welded into one

A warm air pipe and cold air vent are placed in each 100m, so a positive circulation is maintained. The movement of air within the room is rapid and positive It exerts a force on your personal atmosphere that keeps it changing It draws the breathed air from you and brings you fresh, live air for each succeeding breath. Only a fraction of one per cent, of this air has passed near you before. One-third is from outdoors first hand. About two-thirds has been on a quick whirl through the house searching for the occupied room. This refreshes like running water.

Text of the Lesson, Rom. xiv, 13, to xv, 3-Memory Verse, xiv, 16, 17-Golden

This is called a temperance lesson and is no doubt intended to be used as an exhortation and a warning against the use of intoxicants, a most important topic, and a line of service on which we cannot do too much, but when I consider the intemperate people who are so often prominent in what is called temperance work I feel increasingly the need of getting at the root of the matter rather than prescribing for symptoms. The words "temperance" and "duty" are seldom used in the Scriptures, not over six or seven times in each in the whole Bible, and the meaning of temperance is self control in every form (Acts xxiv, 25; 1 Cor. ix, 25; Gal. v, 23; II Pet. i, 6). As in Paul's talk with Felix and verse 17 of our lesson, righteousness comes first. In I Cor. vi. 9, 10, where the drunkard is mentioned among other gross sinners, the opening sentence is "The unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God." The great topic of this espistle is righteousness, the word being used at least thirty-five times and fifteen of these in chapters iv and x. As in i, 17, it is the righteousness of God, that which God requires, and has provided fully and freely in Christ, but which men object to, preferring their own filthy rags of self righteousness, character, reformation, duty and the like (Isa. lxiv, 6; Rom. x, 3). There is no possible way for any one, drunken or sober, moral or immoral, but to plead guilty, according to chap, iii, 19, and be justified freely by grace (ili, 24); then will come the peace and joy of being justified by faith (xiv, 17; xv, 13). and the patience and comfort of the Scriptures (xv. 4-6). It is no use to appeal to any kind of a sinner to do right, for until born again by receiving Christ all are said to be "in the flesh," merely "natural" people, and cannot please

God (John i, 12, 13; Rom, viii, 7, 8).

When Christ is received as a personal Saviour and our righteousness, then we are said to be "in the Spirit," and by the Spirit we may be led, controlled, live and make no provision for the flesh or its lusts (Rom. xiii, 14; Gal. v. 16-25). Salvation, of which the first eight chapters of this letter tell us so fully, is the free gift of God for all who will receive it, or rather Him (Rom. vi, 23; Rev. xxi, 6; xxii, 17), and there are no differences nor degrees. for all who are in Christ have all the benefits of His finished work and are as saved people, we are supposed to always pleased the Father and lived | cial discourses. and died to save others (Rom. xiv. 7; xv, 3; Pet. ii, 21-23; John viii, 29; of others at heart instead of our own selfish ends we would not talk of eating or drinking what we pleased regardless of others' infirmities. trance into His kingdom by and by Everybody is welcome. (xiv, 19; Eph. iii, 16-20; II Pet. i, 5-11). Although all believers are accepted in the beloved, washed, sanctifled and justified and made meet to be partakers of His inheritance (Eph. i, 6, 7: I Cor. vi, 11; Col. i, 12), we are left here for service and good works, for count of himself to God at the judgment seat of Christ, where only saved 7-12; I Cor. iii, 11-15). The service which will be rewarded will be that which He has wrought in us by His Spirit, according to Phil. ii, 13; Heb. xiii, 21. We cannot expect that any-

His working in us will have His approval weeks a little over three years ago because of heart failure, which many thought would take me home, nothing gave more comfort in my weakness as I lay in bed than Rom. xiv, 8: "Whether we live, we live unto the Lord, and whether we die, we die unto the Lord. Whether we live, therefore, or die, we are the Lord's." It is possible so to abandon ourselves to Him for life or death, for service or suffering, that His perfect will shall be everything to us, and our heart song shall be. "Not I. but Christ: "Not I, but the grace of God" (Gal. ii, 20; I Cor. xv, 10). This will keep us so occupied with Himself that we shall not see others except to help them and will make us so sensitive to what He likes or dislikes that we shall not wish to allow that which He would condemn.

That we may lean upon His arm and say Dost Thou, dear Lord, approve? Holy Chost (xiv. 17, 18).

The kingdom to which we are has tening and which cannot come till He comes, if it fills our soul's vision, will lift us above all such matters as eating and drinking, and is there any harm in this or that, and our acceptable serv ice of Christ will be manifestly righteousness and peace and joy in the
